Coach of Year to Roger Andrews

by GLORIA DAVIS

The Antioch Sequoit basketball team's coach, Roger Andrews, has established another first at Antioch Community High School, by being the first Antioch coach that has ever been chosen as one of the "Coaches of the Year," by the Illinois Basketball Coaches Assn.

Although the mail had been pouring in to Andrews and ACHS ever since the Sequoits won the Sweet 16 Tournament at Rockford. One of the most important communiques came when Andrews was notified that he was to be honored as "Coach of the Year," from district six, by the Illinois Basketball Coaches Assn.

The awards banquet was held at Illinois State University on Saturday, April 25, in conjunction with the induction of coaches, players and sports writers into the coaches association's Hall of Fame.

It is unusual for a coach from a school the size of ACHS to receive such an honor because of the strong competition posed by the larger schools in the Class AA Section of district six.

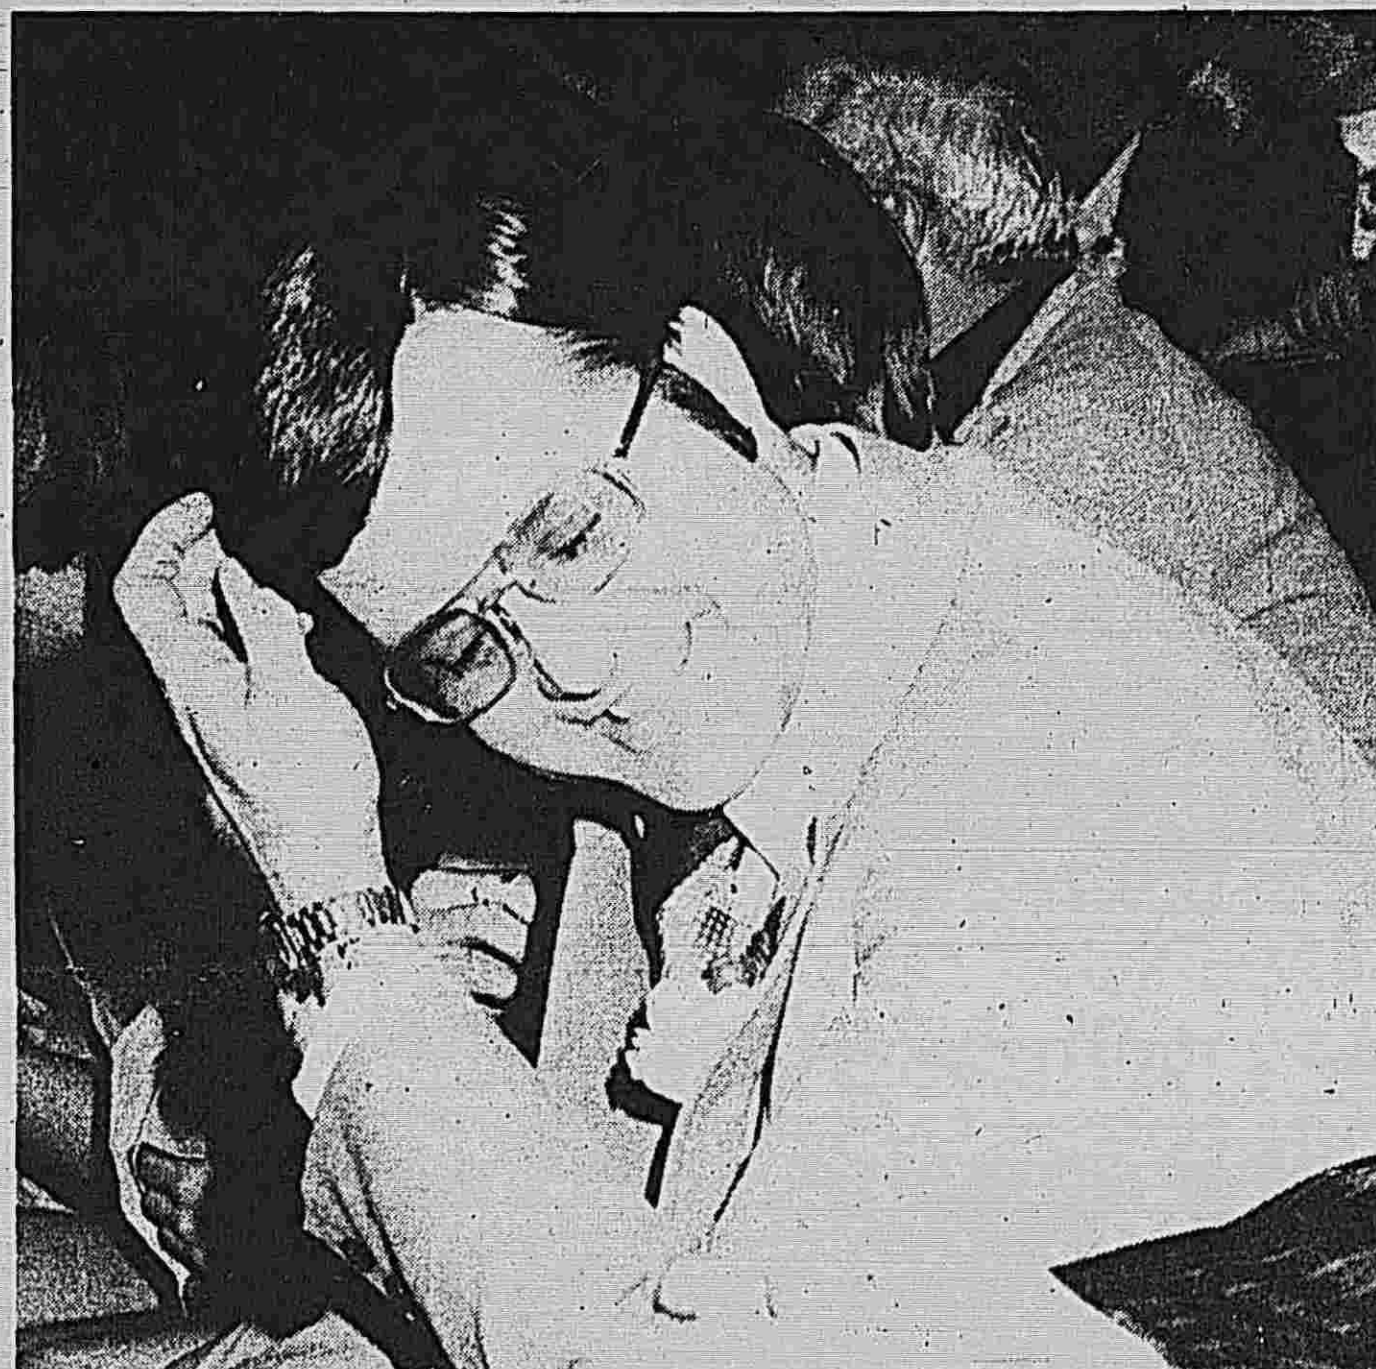

In reference to this Andrews said, "It's terrific! Even though the Sequoits had a wonderful year, I didn't think that I'd get this award because of the larger schools in the district. This award means a lot to me since it is an award from my peers, but of course none of this would have been possible without that great bunch of kids who were extremely instrumental in my receiving it."

Andrews, whose teams have won the Northwest Suburban Conference Championship eight times out of the 21 years he has been with ACHS, as head coach for 19, was born, raised and schooled in Rockford, a fact that afforded him extreme pleasure when the Sequoits took the Sweet 16 Tournament there in March.

He is a graduate of Ball State University, Muncie, Ind., and he and his wife, have a daughter Ronna, 29, and two sons, Mark, 25, and Brian, 21.

All three children are graduates of ACHS and both boys played basketball under their father, a fact that caused no little amount of tension, says Andrews.

AWARD SURPRISES COACH — Roger Andrews, coach of winning Sequoit basketball team, seems surprised to receive a "Coach of Year," award from Illinois Coaches' Assn.

Car strikes child at light

According to Lt. Tom Fisher of the Antioch Police Dept., Timothy Lancaster, 3, Lindenhurst, was struck by a car driven by Leo Sheldon, 78, Lake Villa, at 10 a.m., on Wednesday, April 22, at the intersection of Lake and Main Sts., Antioch.

The Antioch Resque Squad took Lancaster to Condell Memorial Hospital, where he was admitted to the Children-Teenage Center with a head injury.

The child was treated and released on April 23.

According to witnesses at the scene of the accident, the child ran from his mother into the path of the vehicle driven by Sheldon, who was legally proceeding through a green light.

A passerby administered mouth to mouth resuscitation to the child until the resque squad arrived.

No citation was issued.

Victim's mom gets names on petitions

Marty Berglund, Paddock Lake, the mother of Maraloy Berglund, one of the three young people who were killed at the Soo Line crossing, north of the village of Antioch, when their car was struck by a train at the crossing on March 6, is getting petitions signed to make that crossing safer.

With eight petitions in circulation, in both Illinois and Wisconsin, the girl's mother estimates that 1,000 signatures have already been received.

One of them is being passed around in Mundelein by the family of the other two accident victims, brothers, Lonnie, 22, and Robert Summers, 19.

Maraloy, who was 18 years old, was engaged to the oldest of the Summers brothers, Lonnie, 22.

Marty Berglund suggests that a different warning light system or gates might be the means to make the railroad crossing safer.

Petitions are in circulation at Quaker Mfg., Regal China in Antioch and at the Edelweiss Restaurant, Paddock Lake, where the mother is employed.

Anyone interested in signing a petition can do so either by contacting her at the restaurant or by going to one of the other places where the petitions are being circulated.

ACHS lunch prices hiked

Over half of the Antioch Community High School students that participate in the school lunch program may have the prices of their lunches hiked by 62 percent next school year because of the loss of almost $46,000 in federal funding.

During the 1980-81 school year, the school received almost $54,000 in funding for the program and almost $5,000 for the milk program.

If approval of the federal funding cuts is given, the price of the lunches at ACHS will go up from 65 cents to a possible $1.10.

Not only will the monies for the lunch program be less, but funding for the milk program will be virtually non-existent.

The raise in lunch prices is also expected to cause a drop in the number of lunches being served, from 900 to 700. A cut in school employees involved in the lunch program is also a possibility.

Some of Antioch's grade school have already said that they expect a lunch cost hike next year, if the funding cut is passed.

Trust to be subsidiary of Antioch Savings & Loan

The Board of Directors of Antioch Trust Company voted unanimously to approve, in principal, a plan which would make the company a subsidiary of Antioch Savings and Loan Association.

In the proposed offer, stockholders of Antioch Trust Company would be able to receive shares of Antioch Savings and Loan Association stock.

According to Paul T. Pavelski, president of Antioch Trust Company, prior to the actual acceptance of the tender offer, approval of the acquisition must be received from the Commissioner of Banks and Trust Companies for Illinois and the Commissioner of Savings and Loan Associations for Illinois.

Pavelski feels that the planned merger would be a positive step for both the trust company and Antioch Savings and Loan.

"The trust company can benefit from the added financial backing of a profitable $60 million organization and planned joint marketing efforts," Pavelski stated.

Assuming approval from the regulatory agencies, Antioch Savings and Loan Association may be the first savings and loan association in the midwest to be able to offer trust services.

Antioch Trust Company has been in existence over two years and offers a full range of land, personal and corporate trust services. The company will continue to operate out of their newly acquired location at 360 Lake Street, Antioch, Illinois.

Coach of Year

Of the many telegrams and letters received by Andrews and the high school, because of the basketball team's first historic trip to the state tournament in Champaign, some were addressed "Super Coach," while some from former team members congratulated him on achieving his dream.

Many of the congratulations came from schools and municipal officials all over Lake County. Others were from friends and businesses in the area.

Carole reports

Prom night is costly

by CAROLE RISK

Prom night, an occasion that is looked forward to with much excitement, is planned for weeks in advance with shopping trips, tux fittings, flower ordering, transportation arrangements, etc. It is not a easily afforded evening for kids who pay their own way or for parents who pay for them.

The total cost will punch a hole in many a budget. The boys have to have tuxedos, $31 to $45; dress shoes, $7.50; prom tickets, $35. Flowers for his date start at $10 but average is between $20 to $25 and he needs gas for the car plus extra money for after the prom entertainment and usually breakfast afterwards. This will probably add up to around $200.

The girl will have to have a pretty dress — take a look in the very moderately priced J.C. Penney's catalogue where the least expensive prom type dress is $52.00.

She will need shoes, a small evening bag, a wrap, also any special underthings that her dress requires.

It's doubtful that the girl will wear the dress again to any other local affair. The girls basic needs for prom, unless she can borrow, will cost at least $100.

Then to preserve the memories of this special night a professional photographer will be on hand to take posed pictures of each couple, these photos are not low cost.

Everyone wants to see the kids have a great time and a memorable night, but over $300 for this one occasion, whew!

Do the tickets have to be $35 per couple and tuxes $31 and up?

Can't the pictures be taken by a volunteer? Can't the flowers be a little more reasonable.

There must be some way of bringing these costs down without depriving the young people of any of the things that are part of prom night.

Antioch has come in contact with the nuclear age. A resident of Antioch, who works at the Commonwealth Edison Nuclear plant in Zion, became contaminated with radioactive dust when he reached into a box of tools.

Radiation specialists washed his hand until it was supposedly clean.

The next morning, when he returned to work, the radiation alarms went off.

As it turned out, two cars he had ridden in, his clothing and places in his home were contaminated.

All were cleaned and Edison says the amounts of radiation were low, but question is, with all the precautions and safety devices that are supposed to be employed at a plant of this type, how did this worker even leave the nuclear plant?

It's certainly not his fault, but when you think of all the places he could have stopped before returning to work the following day, we could have had decontamination experts all over Antioch.

If anybody has as little as one hour per month to spare and would like to help others, the Chain O'Lakes Senior Services can use you.

This service sponsored by the Chaplaincy Service Inc., provides assistance to older people to help them stay in their own homes and in familiar surroundings.

Volunteers are needed to drive for meals on wheels, to do telecare calling, office work, to provide friendly visits and for Outreach, a program to locate isolated elderly people and inform them of benefits and services that are available to them.

The services are for those 60 and over and the Chain O'Lakes Senior Services is located at 848 Main St., Antioch, 395-5161 and 395-5162.

If you can't spare the time, but would like to make a donation, checks should be made to the Chain O'Lakes Senior Services at the above address.

The property just west of Antioch Bowl is supposed to be developed for condominiums, if they are built facing south, they sure will have a beautiful view. The property is annexed to the village already, and is in the process of being cleared.

When I Think About It

Pick-ups are popular

by GLORIA DAVIS

I was raised by two God-fearing parents and several holy priests and nuns, who all did their very best to instill in me a healthy respect for the 10 commandments, the seventh of these being one of those especially stressed.

Thou shalt not steal is a moral obligation that I've always felt a need to obey.

So explain to me, please, why I keep turning up evidence to the contrary.

On Mondays I start out with one or two well used ballpoint pens in my purse but by Friday my bag contains 15 or 20 such writing implements in various shades and sizes, some classily monogrammed with letters that fall nowhere in the alphabetical vicinity of my own initials.

Where most of these pens come from is a mystery, like the one emblazoned with "That Old Feeling Massage Parlor".

I probably picked it up the same place I confiscated the matchbook that claims I've been to "The Dew Drop Inn" in Tuscola.

I have this same problem with disposable lighters, having started out with one of those flowered ones that you get when you buy two packs of Tennessee Talls, yet somewhere I have acquired lighters in every color of the rainbow.

Now don't get the wrong impression, for every stray pen or lighter I have picked up, I have left two or three personal calling cards, having strewn sunglasses, gloves, countless pairs of loop earrings and several sets of keys in the wake of my daily travels.

Yet all of these are not a complete loss. Just last week I found myself making good use of the visor on my car, since I just left the zillionth pair of sunglasses somewhere or other. Inside of a few days the pile of lighters and pens in my purse had been joined by five pair of shades that had been returned by conscientious neighbors as I inadvertently revisited the places where I had left them.

The earrings also dribble back, but never in pairs, the result being that my jewelry box now contains 12 gold hoop earrings in 12 different sizes and the same number of finishes. I guess all this indicates the give and take sides of my personality and that can't be all bad.

Now I really am trying to mend my ways. For example, I don't leave my keys laying around carelessly anymore.

No, instead I leave them in the ignition of my car, despite the warning buzzer that goes off, as I carefully lock the door of the car.

But I'm getting very proficient with coat hangers. I can now get into my locked car in 20 seconds flat.

Anyone need their car broken into, just call me and I'll be glad to oblige.

50 YEARS AGO: APRIL 30, 1931

Drawing the largest vote ever polled at a school election in Antioch Township High School district, the contest for the election of three board members held the spotlight of interest here Saturday afternoon, when a total of 864 voters registered a choice for their favorite candidates. F.O. Hawkins and Mrs. Jean Ferris, candidates for the contested 3-year terms, were elected.

The Antioch Palace will re-open for amateur boxing May 8, under the direction of Mickey Rafferty, it was announced this week. Rafferty is the owner of a Forest Park cafe, and formerly owner of a Chicago radio station. If present plans mature, it is possible that activities at the Palace will be broadcast.

DR. J. F. Riordan, eye, ear, nose and throat specialist of Kenosha, will make semi-weekly visits here, starting Saturday of this week. The doctor will occupy office rooms with Dr. H.F. Beebe each Wednesday and Saturday afternoon.

Amateur burglars failed to get into a safe at the Feyerabend sales rooms the forepart of the week. They knocked off the combination and then tried to pry open the door, but without success.

Blake Baird was crowned king and Donna Martin queen at the all-school carnival, "Fool's Frolic" at the Antioch Township High School gymnasium last Friday. Ted Gajewski won the pie eating contest.

"We gave out 400 gardenia corsages and could have given out twice that many more," said A. Harold Olsen, in estimating the crowd that visited his new furniture store at 895 Main St. Saturday. The store, probably the most beautiful in the village from an aesthetic viewpoint, started off with good business and is destined to be a success.

The Antioch Rescue squad gave first aid treatment Sunday afternoon to a girl and two boys whose boat upset at East Loon Lake.

Formation of a four-team league and possibly eight-team competition in baseball will be attempted by Carl A. Wolfbarger among boys between 8 and 12 years in the Antioch area. The little league would be a part of a national organization known as the "Little League."

NO GAMES, NO STAMPS,
NO GIMMICKS!

When's the last time you got something for free? Think about it the next time you see some supermarket offering you "free" games, stamps or shopping premiums. At Eagle, we don't play games with your food dollars. So you won't find us offering you costly games and gimmicks...just good food at a good price. Our prices are consistently low throughout the store to keep your family's food bills low where it really counts: at the checkstand. That's how discount works at Eagle!

Sequoits stunned by Grant no-hitter

Just as the Sequoits seemed to be getting untracked, they ended up on the wrong end of a no-hitter, losing 5-1 to Grant last Thursday.

Grant's Les Rosing allowed only four baserunners while pitching a no-hitter in a game shortened by poor field conditions.

Antioch's only run came when Pete Weber walked and took second on a passed ball. Steve Sheedlo then sacrificed, but the throw from the first baseman to the second baseman covering was wild, allowing Weber to score and Sheedlo to take second.

Grant scored one run in the first, and two in the fourth and fifth for the win.

Earlier in the week, Antioch had defeated Grayslake, 5-1, at home as John Haley went the distance on the mound for the Sequoits, giving up six hits while striking out six and walking one.

Antioch scored in the first inning when John Jackson singled and Dino Sisto walked. Mark Pomazak then singled, driving in one run and moving Sisto to third. Carl Amundsen hit a sacrifice fly to score a run.

In the second inning, Antioch added another run when Dan Ropa singled with two out. Brian O'Neill then walked and John Jackson tagged his second single of the game, scoring Ropa.

In the fifth, Sisto and Pomazak walked. Both runners advanced on Amundsen's sacrifice fly and two runs then came across on Sheedlo's single.

This week Antioch will host Warren Wednesday and play at Salem Central on Friday and at Waukegan West on Saturday. Monday, May 4, they will host Round Lake.

"We're improving," said Coach Tom Baba. "We lost to Rosing, but he pitched a heck of a ball game. If our pitching comes around when Koesser's arm gets healthy, we'll be okay. Our hitting is starting to come around."

Baba said Koesser is not expected to be ready to pitch for another week.

Bowlers receive awards

Flea Market May 3rd

Along the way with ANNIE MAE

It was edifying to see the turnout at Saturday's Men's Prayer Breakfast, held at Harbor Ridge Country Club. The father and son duos, like Pete and Peter Cleven, were nice to see.

Another welcome sight is that of Ralph Brooke, looking just great since his recovery from open heart surgery.

It just goes to prove that the local tennis courts have turned out some pretty fair tennis players. Karla Herbst is hitting some pretty fair balls, as she placed fifth in the singles and third in the doubles, at the Missouri Western College Invitational.

I hear that Pvt. Kenneth Hensel, son of Wayne Hensel, McHenry and Patricia Hensel, Antioch, is doing a stint with the 3rd Armoured Division in Friedberg, West Germany.

And Ricky Bigham, Son of Carol Bingham, has just been assigned to Chanute Air Force Base after completing Air Force basic training.

Loved the clothes at the Emmons Grade School Fashion Show last Saturday, April 25. But somehow I can't see old Annie Mae looking as good in those clothes as those lovelies, Ann Kakacek and Shiela Haley, did.

Speaking of fashion shows, Lakeland Publisher's annual cooking show, which included a fashion show from the Factory Fashion Outlet, Lindenhurst, held at Round Lake High School on Thursday, April 23, was another huge success.

The reasonable price on some of those stunning clothes, just goes to prove that one can still dress well on a low budget, if they just spend a little extra time shopping.

Annie Mae is polishing up her rabbit's foot for good luck at the Jaycees Las Vegas Night, to be held at the Antioch Action Center, Saturday, May 2. I understand the Vikings Football organization is also one of that fun night's sponsors.

Have you noticed the new look at the State Bank now that the gals don't have to wear uniforms, another one of the changes made by the holding company that took over last year.

4-H awards available

County 4-H members enrolled in any crops project may qualify for one of five $500 college scholarships, one of three $100 savings bonds or one of three county trophies.

"These awards are available for overall participation in the 4-H X-tra yield program, demonstration research programs, and yield contest," says Evell Knight, County Extension Adviser.

To be eligible for the corn and soybean high yield contest a member must grow five or more acres of a crop.

Once the yield is determined the high yield in each county in both corn and soybeans will be honored with a trophy.

The member with the highest yield in the state will receive a $100 savings bond.

In the demonstration research phase of the program, a member enrolled in any crops project may design a research project and report his/her results.

A trophy will be presented to the 4-H member with the top demonstration in each county.

Three top demonstrations in the state will be recognized with $100 savings bonds.

The scholarship phase of the program is open to members in their junior or senior year of high school who have participated in both the yield and demonstration phases of the program.

Five state awards of $500 scholarships will be awarded to the five highest ranking members in the state.

Last year 61 counties participated in the corn yield contest, 53 counties in the soybean yield contest, 23 counties in the demonstration phase and eight counties in the scholarship phase of the program.

"These 4-H awards are made available by Growmark, Inc. and their F.S. member companies through the Illinois 4-H Foundation", concludes Evell Knight.

HEAR TOBIN

The Libertarians of Lake County are sponsoring a Sunday brunch on May 17 at 10 a.m. at the Cabriolet, Libertyville, to hear Jim Tobin of National Taxpayers United of Illinois. Jim is well-known throughout Lake County and Illinois for his successful organization of tax rollback referenda and for helping to defeat proposed tax increases.

Win prizes China Day at Emmons

The benefit drawing for the Youth Program was held at the Antioch Bowling Lanes, on April 18.

First prize of $200 savings bond went to Julianne Trychta, 148 Oak Lane, Lake Villa. Second prize of a 12 inch Sylvania black and white tv, went to Bob Mattson, Rte. 1, Box 191, Antioch, and third prize of a GE AM/FM digital clock radio went to Lynn Kehé, 41939 N. Lotus, Antioch.

Youth bowlers selling 300 or more tickets earned a free bowling ball. Tony Maglio, nine years old, was the top seller with $73.25 for 365 tickets.

Other bowlers receiving bowling balls were: Joey Fisher, 345; John Patterson, 315; Brett Jandula, 315; Shane Hameau, 315; Jody Hart, 315; Laura Berben, 315; Kim Pankauskas, 310; Chris Mahr, 305; Frank Damit, 305; and the following each with 300: Michelle Buchta, Paul Kozoil, Linda Johnson, Tammy Berben, Mike Split, Mike Mitlevic, and Bob and Mike Mattson.

On Friday, May 1, teachers and parents will join in helping to bring the students at Emmons a unique learning experience.

It is to be an in-house field trip, so to speak. The entire day will be devoted to learning about China.

One class may be making a Chinese village, another making a large contour map of China, while others may be working on murals, dioramas, etc. Lower grade classes will be making a dragon for a Chinese New Year's parade.

Some parents are bringing a hot Chinese meal for the school. The menu for the lunch is: sweet/sour pork, walnut chicken and beef with celery served with rice.

Each one will get a serving of each for a variety of taste. Each will get a set of chopsticks to eat with. Homemade Chinese almond cookies will be the dessert.

Mrs. Flora Mitchell, who lives in our school district, spent six weeks in China last summer. While there, she went on two tours of China, one on ancient China and one on modern or present-day China.

She will show slides of her trip to the school twice during the day, once in the morning to the lower grades and again in the afternoon for kindergarten and the upper grades.

There will be display tables of various things from China. If you have anything from China that you or your child could bring, please identify what and whose it is on a small card and send it for everyone to enjoy and learn from.

There will be parents there who will watch the display tables to insure that nothing gets "lost".

In Idaho, it's illegal for a man to give his sweetheart a box of candy weighing less than fifty pounds.

Utilities to offer audits

Most public utilities in Illinois will begin offering home energy audits and other energy conservation help to their residential customers by mid-October, the state energy agency announced.

The guidelines under which electric and natural gas utilities will offer the program, known as the Residential Conservation Service, have received federal approval, said Frank Beal, director of the Illinois Institute of Natural Resources.

Utility customers who live in single-family houses or in small apartment buildings will be offered an energy audit, which pinpoints ways to save energy. There will be a $15 charge for the service.

UTILITY representatives also will give customers a list of contractors who can perform energy-related work and another list of lending institutions which can help finance such improvements.

"The Residential Conservation Service program could help cut home energy bills in Illinois by an estimated $16.4 million each year if only five percent of the eligible customers ask for energy audits and follow the resulting recommendations," said Beal.

THE PLAN under which Illinois utilities will operate was prepared in response to federal legislation requiring that the services be offered in each state.

Development of the guidelines in Illinois took about one year, beginning in the fall of 1979, with Illinois Institute of Natural Resources coordinating the effort.

The Illinois Commerce Commission, which regulates public utilities, adopted the plan as a formal rule in November 1980. The plan was then submitted to the U.S. Department of Energy for approval.

The state's 12 largest utilities are required to provide the Residential Conservation Service. They are: Central Illinois Light Company; Central Illinois Public Service Company; Commonwealth Edison Company; Illinois Power Company; Interstate Power Company; Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric Company; North Shore Gas Company; Northern Illinois Gas Company; the Peoples Gas Light and Coke Company; Springfield City Water, Light and Power; Union Electric Company; and United Cities Gas Company.

THE SERVICES to be provided will bring utility customers a number of benefits, including: a high-quality home energy audit at a cost of $15; assurances that energy conservation products will meet installation, performance and safety standards; inspection by utility personnel of some products after installation to ensure safety; and a mediation service to settle disputes that might arise between customers and contractors if conservation equipment has been installed.

INR NOW will begin to compile lists of lending institutions, energy-service contractors and/or suppliers. Utilities will distribute these lists to customers at the time energy audits are conducted.

Customers will be able to use the lists to find out what firms in their areas are interested in supplying or installing conservation equipment or providing financing.

THE UTILITIES have been directed by the Illinois Commerce Commission to undertake advertising campaigns to let customers know the services are available.

"It is critical that reliable energy conservation assistance be available to homeowners," said Institute director Beal.

"Twenty percent of all energy consumed in Illinois is used in the home, and the Residential Conservation Service represents one of the few means available to help the majority of residential users save energy dollars," he added.
